

“In Character Mischief”

A child was born, with a Satanic past life. The past life was at recognizance to the Great Beast 666 in concern to his developmental stages of enlightenment and hedonism. An agreement was struck wherein the recognizance ran out when the past life reincarnated. This agreement was subtle, almost invisible even to the Blasphemous Beast.

The writings were influenced in directions the new life did not consent to, because 666 thought the new life was still at recognizance. New life writer published them anyway, incapable of detecting everything that had been inserted – but posting a disclaimer against being entrapped by the mind control handler’s lures.
